Parker Pursell serves as the President of eQRP, a financial services company focused on helping physicians, business professionals, and investors break their financial shackles and find their path to financial freedom. With a servant leadership mindset, Parker has helped mentor and grow both people and profits for companies such as Chick-Fil-A and Pursell Farms. Finding himself unemployed during the COVID-19 pandemic, Parker discovered a newfound passion for helping guide others on their paths to financial freedom, which lead him to the eQRP. Today, through his leadership, speaking, and mentorship, Parker shares his story of inspiring the people around him to become better versions of themselves than they were before.
