Taylor Huff, President of My Gold Advisor, joined the team in 2021. As a trusted expert in the precious metals industry, I spend most of my time guiding investors on how they can protect their hard-earned wealth with physical Gold and Silver - safeguarding against the instability of fiat currency. Taylor believes that owning physical metals is one of the smartest hedges against the incessant printing, spending, wars, and great reset coming. Taylor also works closely with eQRP to move money out of Wall Street and into a vehicle that empowers our clients to take control of their financial future. Taylor believes that taking control of your finances is the first and best step towards financial freedom. That's why he is committed to offering expert insights and strategic guidance to help investors create and protect the financial future they deserve.
